28th February, 2019

Sir C V Raman on 28 February 1928 discovered the Raman Effect. For his discovery, Sir C.V. Raman was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1930. To mark the event, National Science Day is celebrated in India on 28 February each year. In 1986, the NCSTC asked the Government of India to designate February 28 as National Science Day. The event is now celebrated all over the country in schools, colleges, universities and other academic, scientific, technical, medical and research institutions. On the occasion of the National Science Day, 28 February, 2019 Deptt. of Journalism & Mass Communication , Vijaygarh Jyotish Ray College is going to organise a National Level seminar on Science and Awareness for a sustainable Society

Objective of the Seminar: The organisers want to widely spread a message about the Importance of science used in the daily life of the people. To display all the activities, efforts and achievements in the field of science for human welfare. It is the main science function of India .

In this perspective, we are going to organize a Seminar on Science and awareness for a sustainable Society i) to discuss all the issues and implement new technologies for the development in the field of science. ii) to give an opportunity to the scientific minded citizens in the country. iii) to encourage the people as well as popularize the Science and Technology. We want to spread the arena of science beyond the Applied Captivity and include other branches from social sciences and Humanities. Scientific thinking is a necessity for all irrespective of Subjects and disciplines.

Scholars are being earnestly invited to participate in the seminar and to submit their views as the manner of Paper submission. The details of delegation and paper submission are given hereunder.

Selected papers among the presented papers in the seminar will be published in International Peer Reviewed Journal / a book containing ISBN published by Vijaygarh Jyotish Ray College in collaboration with Kalyani Foundation for Media Science & Community Research.
